Holiday Wine Festival
Weekend

I opened a bottle of this wine to taste again, as I haven't had it for a year or so. I almost s w o n e d just from the aromas off the cork. We have all been waiting for the day when we were able to bring this wine out of its hiding spot in the warehouse (to make sure we don't drink it all before it's released). It is full-bodied yet smooth, with an abundance of fruit character.

Winemaker's Notes: Ripe blackberry and raspberry aromas greet your nose immediately with additional hints of dried herbs. This dark intensely flavored wine fills your mouth with wonderful ripe berry characters; hints of oak, vanilla, and plum linger on long after its gone.

Enjoy this wine with grilled meats, game, and robust, spicy meals such as Ellena's Cracked Pepper Steak recipe in her cookbook.

Cheers, Natalie

COOKBOOK NO.2 REPRINT

It's done! We have tirelessly worked for the past ten months converting my second, spiral-bound cookbook to the new ringed-binder format. Now ALL THREE of my cookbooks will be available to insert into my recipe binder. We've re-made all of the recipes, while at the same time we took pictures, corrected mistakes, and changed some things. It has been really interesting making these, as some I've not done in quite a while. It has been even more interesting to discover how I have changed some of my cooking techniques over the ten years since this version was first released. For example, my Strawberry Soup recipe is delicious as it was intended, a cold soup, but we also found that it is extremely wonderful as a margarita style drink in the summer (thanks to our social media star Kirsten for helping us realize this!).

Just like in my third and first cookbooks, this new format allows for pictures of the finished recipe, along with space for Gluten-Free variations and Wine Pairings. Each recipe also has notes where I sometimes tell the story of the origin of the recipe, give tips and tricks, or just plain rave about how good the recipe is! I can't wait for you to try some of my favorites!

Here are a few that I think you should make right away, as soon as possible.

Merlot Figs with Gorgonzola

- If I really want to impress my guests, I serve this appetizer. So delicious!

Ellena's Antipasto

- I first tasted this recipe when Mike was a winemaker at Parducci in 1978.

Asian Chicken Vermicelli Salad

- This is one of my favorite salads! I love to make it for any luncheon event I'm hosting, or sometimes just for myself.

Minestrone Toscano

- The first time I made this was when I attended a cooking school in Florence, Italy. I loved it then and love it now.

Fabulous Spaghetti Sauce

- This recipe is over 40 years old; Upon our return from our Air Force time in Turkey, our New York/Italian-descent friends had us over for dinner to experience their grandmother's spaghetti recipe. I have been making it ever since.

Olive Oil French Fries

- Once you try these - cooked in olive oil - you'll never want fries any other way.

Flaming Baked Alaska

- If you want drama, light your Baked Alaska on fire and amaze your guests.

Eat Simple, Eat Well.

popular during the Holiday season. In an effort to speed up the ordering process for you, we have taken a few of our most popular designs and included them on this page. You can now call and tell us you want label #3 with such-and-such names and when you want to pick up your labeled bottles. Keep in mind the process takes about 24 hours, so please plan accordingly.
